

// ExO Expert

Ann Ralston helps business leaders identify and overcome barriers to growth with a detective-like sense of curiosity, compassion, and cut-to-the-chase insights.

For more than 20 years, she has helped chief executives, teams, and organizations achieve the goals they've worked hard for. She has a passion for coaching teams to innovate, changing mindsets, and helping leaders develop company cultures that thrive. Her specialty: getting to the heart of an issue.

Ann is certified as a Scaling Up Coach, a Metronomics Coach and an ExO (Exponential Organizations) Coach and Ambassador. A passionate Rotarian, she also co-founded Central Ohio Robotics Initiative (CORI) and is a board member of the PAST Foundation, a non-profit that links STEM learning to life in a unique and collaborative way to create the workplace of the future. She's also an avid gardener, tennis player, and dog lover.

Fun fact: Ann and her wonderdog, Milo, train for agility trials.
